THE GREYHOUND

Vol. XXX, No. 8 | Loyola College — Baltimore 10, Maryland | February 28, 1957

Dan Fall, winner of the Jenkins Gold Medal award for best speaker, watches his colleague, Bob Heymann, as they defeat the affirmative team on the question, "Resolved: That Student Council membership should favor popularly elected members."

Greyhound Poll Favors Class-Elected Members

In an effort to stimulate interest in the forthcoming vote on the proposed Student Council constitution, the GREYHOUND conducted a poll of student opinion.

Approximately 11% of the student body took the trouble to fill out the blanks.

The majority of voters favored a Student Council composed primarily of class-elected members rather than representation be members of extra-curricular activities.

The poll also indicated that various departmental majors have different problems. Question four pointed out that although a majority of the students favored regular schoolwide assemblies, pep rallies, films, etc., only a minority would attend these functions if held. Popular elections were favored over the appointment of Student Council members.

By far the most interesting and informing part of the poll was the section labeled "Constructive Comments." A few of the comments are printed below for your consideration.

1. Why not model our Student Council on the House of Representatives? That is, elect representatives from each class. Also, why not give the Freshmen equal representation, because they will most determine the future of the school? (Senior)

2. We need more activities to boost school spirit such as Booster Clubs and class parties. Loyola has no social life in comparison with other schools our size. (Junior)

3. Why clutter up the school year with too many elections? Any Student Council will eventually degenerate into a useless farce — a debating society. (Sophomore)

4. Why not have more dances? (Freshman)

5. The GREYHOUND should stick to writing the news instead of philosophizing. A half-year of Logic does not make anyone a threat to Aristotle or Thomas Acquinas. (Senior)

6. Make Council meetings open to interested students for observation. (Junior) Editor's Note: They are.

7. A committee should be formed for the purpose of informing students of activities in the Baltimore area. A project of the Student Council might be to obtain student tickets to the activities and offer them for sale in the Campus Shop. (Sophomore)

8. I think the smaller the Council the better it will be. The president should pick some men that he thinks would do a good job, similar to the Cabinet in the government. (Senior)

9. Please improve the quality of the Greyhound paper. (Junior)

10. What is a problem for the Student Council? Have any problems ever been solved by the Student Council? What is its function? Why? How? (Freshman)

Debaters Compete At Saint Joseph's

Two teams from the Bellarmine Debating Society will attend the West Point Elimination Tournament at St. Joseph's College on March 22nd and 23rd and the Georgetown Cherry Blossom Tournament in Washington the following week.

A two-man team, the first Evergreen team ever to attend the West Point Elimination Tournament, will debate both sides of the national debate question, "Resolved: That the United States discontinue direct Economic Aid to foreign countries." Both a negative and an affirmative team will represent the society at the Georgetown Tournament.

In addition to partipating in in these tournaments, Loyola College is also an active member of the James Cardinal Gibbons Debate League. This league is composed of seven Catholic colleges in the Baltimore-Washington area. League debates were also held with the Georgetown School of Foreign Service, February 19, and with Mount St. Mary's, February 26.

LIT To Present "Inferno" Record

A record of Dante's "Inferno, Cantos I-VIII," by John Ciardi reading his own translation will be presented by Lambda Iota Tau today at noon in the Xavier Lounge.

In an attempt to increase membership and stimulate interest the organization has been hard at work preparing a schedule of future events.

Sodalists To Initiate Mass At Noon For Lenten Time

Students of Loyola College will have the opportunity of attending a 12 o'clock mass here on campus beginning March 6. The only college on the East coast which affords this privilege at present is Fordham University.

The noon mass is part of a plan inaugurated by the Sodality of Loyola Collge to establish a Lenten Mass Club. The purpose of such a club is to encourage our own Catholic college students to do something real and positive in preparation for Easter.

The Very Rev. Vincent F. Beatty, S.J., has consented to act as Honorary President of the club. The religious faculty members have agreed to remember the members of the club in their Lenten masses. The lay faculty members have also been contacted and invited to participate as members. Presidents of all activities have been requested to support the movement and encourage their club members to do the same.

But the above endorsements act only as a format for a campaign which is intended mainly to reach the student as an individual. To attain this goal, the Sodality has outlined the following plan. First of all, students will receive a written invitation to become members of the club and to share in its benefits. This invitation will be supplemented by posters placed throughout the buildings and by talks given by Sodalists in the morning classes. A membership form will be sent to all students to be filled out and returned to the Lenten Mass Club mail box in the Library Building. For those who accept this invitation and pledge membership, small lapel buttons will be given. Finally, a regular newsletter will be available to members.

Membership requires neither dues nor special meetings. No one is obligated to take part, but Sodalists pointed out that those who do will not only find a sense of accomplishment and satisfaction in taking upon themselves the responsibility of setting aside one half-hour a day at mass, but more important, all members will share infinitely in spiritual rewards which will enrich their lives in every respect.

Fund Appropriated For Council Use

President Bob Cadigan called to order the twelve members of the Student Council for their February 15th meeting. The Council's agenda included discussions on the new Student Council treasury appropriation and the results of the GREYHOUND Poll.

Dan Fall, secretary-treasurer, announced that the school has appropriated $110 for use by the Council in meeting incidental expenses. The Student Representatives voted to purchase a copy of Robert's Rules of Order, a gavel and an official seal. It was explained that these purchases would lend dignity to the communications and procedure of the council.

Father Hoggson was asked to comment on the possibility of having more orchestra dances during the school year. He pointed out to the dance committee that the number of dances was not the main objection of the administration, but rather the cost of such dances to the student.

Also discussed with Father Hoggson were the results of the recent student poll. It was reported that the majority of voting students were in favor of more assemblies and pep rallies. On this point, Father Hoggson stated that the principal difficulty was one of scheduling such activities.

Student Representative Jim Henneman was asked to clarify the situation that existed before the Mount Saint Mary's game at which a number of Loyola Students were turned away due to the limited seating capacity of the gym. As a result, a letter was sent to Lefty Reitz in an attempt at some solution to the problem.

Strauch, New Sodality Prefect, To Conduct 1st Meeting Tomorrow

Robert L. Strauch, the new prefect of the Sodality of the Immaculate Conception, will conduct his first meeting tomorrow. This meeting will mark the beginning of two new changes in the organization.

The prefect has been selected by the director of the Sodality, Rev. Francis X. Knott, S.J., and has been given the right to choose his fellow officers. On the other hand, the meetings have been rearranged so as to allow for more variety and flexibility.

Strauch is a junior, majoring in Physics. He has been a member of the Sodality since his days at Loyola High School. A member of the Physics and Glee Clubs, he is also active in a local C.S.M.C. group. Robert Strauch succeeds Donald R. Dodson, past prefect of the Sodality.

I.R.C. To Attend N. J. Conference

Loyola's International Relations Club will send a four man delegation to St. Peter's College for a conference on international politics to be held March 9.

The conference, to be attended by many other colleges of the Eastern states, will prepare the IRC for the Model United Nations at Princeton. The delegation from Loyola will comprise President Bob Baker, Donald Hagen, Frank Tyler and Ed Judge.

Because of the increased importance of "The Roll of Nationalism in the Redistribution of World Power," this topic will continue to be the basis of the IRC's discussions. Individual nations will be studied in their relationship to the overall topic.

Notre Dame Professor Set As Next Lecturer In Loyola Series

Professor Yves R. Simon of Notre Dame University will speak at Loyola College at 3 p.m. on March 10. The title of Mr. Simon's talk will be "Philosophy and Scientific Experience."

This will be another in the series of lectures which has extended throughout the year, and has brought a number of renowned personalities to Loyola. The two most recent were the Rev. Harold C. Gardiner, S. J., and Professor Kohya P. Tagita.

In April this lecture series will present Dr. Fredrick Rossini and Mr. Seumas MacManus.

Dr. Rossini will talk on "Research in Petroleum Industry" to the freshman chemistry class on April 1 and will give an open lecture on some phase of science in today's world. The exact title of this latter has not yet been determined.

Dr. Rossini, currently the head of the Department of Chemistry of Carnegie Institute of Technology, is considered an expert in the fields of thermo-chemistry, chemical - thermodynamics and hydrocarbons. He is also the recipient of a National Science Foundation Gold Medal.

Professor Kohya P. Tagita lectured on "Secret Christians in Japan" recently to faculty and students in Cohn Hall. His lecture was one in the series arranged by Father Gibbons for this year.

Mr. MacManus, poet dean of Irish Literature, will speak on April 26, in Cohn Hall. The title of his lecture has not been announced.

Mr. MacManus has enjoyed repeated successes in this country and in his native Ireland. His is the story of a boy from the Donegal hills, who learned story-telling around the countryside fires, and later became a prominent figure in English literature.

Plans are now being made to bring Dr. George Carter here in the not-too-distant future. Dr. Carter is a geography expert from Johns Hopkins University. The date of his visit and his exact topic remain uncertain.

Father Gibbons, S.J., who arranges these lectures, has expressed his hope that many students will "take advantage of the opportunity" that is offered.

Editorial

You have heard the Jenkins Debate. You have seen the Greyhound poll. You have had a chance to discuss the issue.

But have you read the constitution? If not, we urge you to do so and become aware of these facts:

Under the new proposed constitution the council cannot be dominated by any one small clique. The executive committee provides for leadership, but the members of the council can call their own meetting. Under the old constitution only the president could call a meeting of the council.

The council cannot amend the constitution without the approval of the student body and the President of the College. Under the present constitution the approval of the student body is not required.

Ten percent of the student body can initiate amendments to the constitution under the new proposed constitution, such amendments going into effect upon approval of the student body and the administration.

In contrast with the status quo, the proposed charter subjects the council to the control of the students and the President of the College.

As for the matter of the mode of representation, two facts should be brought to light. First, the method of representation can be changed through initiative and referendum once the new constitution becomes effective. Second, those freshmen who are now alarmed at unfair representation will be sophomores by the time this constitution goes into effect. They should vote as sophomores.

We urge you to read carefully this proposed constitution. We urge you to ratify — vote yea — for this constitution. Do not make the mistake of voting against the constitution because you do not like a particular section of it, such as the method of representation.

Approval of the entire constitution is the first step toward effective student government here at Loyola.

Finally, for the diehards, we pose this question. "What will happen if the proposed new constitution is not adopted?"

Answer, "We may be stuck with the present set-up, with all its inadequacies, indefinitely!"

The Skeptic Tank

By Bob Pula

The recent outbreaks of ill-considered pronouncements emanating from various golf courses and vacation spots across the land have prompted some of President Eisenhower's supporters to wonder at the mandate handed him last November. The pronouncements have come from men in high and responsible positions—those ranked as crucial members of th "Eisenhower Team."

The American public didn't mind so much when it alone was the subject of the remarks. (It may well be that some of us are dogs of one sort or another). But when this country's allies became the target of the ill-hinged tongue of our Secretary of State, concern was expressed throughout the land.

Well, I am here today to urge relaxation, calmness, caution, prudence, perspicacity and horse sense. John Foster is here to stay, apparently. Remember that he prepared all his life for his present job) and we may as well make the most of it. To assist in our adjustment to J. F.'s continuance in office, I have composed a song which may be sung to the tune of Walk Hand in Hand With Me. (Note: If any copyright people approach from the bushes, the song should be sung to the tune of The Star Spangled Banner, Greensleeves or Kom Susser Tod).

The Ballad of J.F.D.

Walk foot in mouth with me
Brink is our destiny
No greater threat have we
Than my big foot.
Ike loves diplomacy
From any Georgia tee
He's lost contact with me
And my big foot.
Be not afraid
For I won't send you to the French.
So hold your head awry
And dig your private trench.
Walk foot in mouth with me
Avoid hypocrisy
Hear what occurs to me
Between my toes
In my mouth.

(Screeching violins, rumbling kettledrums, finis).

ROTC

New Medals

By T. X. MURN

From the leafless calm of the Dell the other day a message sallied forth to titillate the medal-decked breast of any conscientious ROTC cadet: enough new medals and ribbons have been created to do justice to the bosom of a general's aide.

In an increased effort to commend the great personal bravery of the campus men-at-arms, such disparate sources as the Chicago Tribune and the Reserve Officers Association of Maryland will establish new prizes this year for the ROTC program at Loyola.

These decorations, along with the ones which already exist, will be presented annually at the President's Review.

The Chicago Tribune will award four gold and four silver medals to the two highest men of each year who survive the academic campaign.

For the same scholastic heroism, the Reserve Officers Association will present a gold, silver, and bronze medal to one member of the junior, sophomore, and freshman years, respectively.

The mental and military might of the most excellent senior will be rewarded with one year's paid membership in the Reserve Officers Association.

To the member of the ROTC Rifle Team who is top man on the small bore rifle range, the National Rifle Association will bestow a medal of excellence.

Professional Expert Heads Development

By MIKE COOK

Tall, bespectacled, with a confident smile upon his gentlemanly face, Mr. Frank O'Hern professional organizer, sits behind his cluttered desk in the library building raising funds for the proposed students' Union and Engineering Physics Building.

His five point plan of action names the alumni, local business, charitable foundations, interested individuals and lastly the students themselves as the sources of the urgently needed $2,550,000.

Mr. O'Hern graduated B.S. from Colgate University in 1923. He has organized fund-raising programs for numerous colleges, the Red Cross, and other social foundations such as the girl scouts and a child's nursing home.

While smoking his biggest cigar, Mr. O'Hern cited as his biggest job, the four million dollar building program at Oberlin College in Ohio.

At the kickoff meeting for the fund-raising campaign to build a Texas Hospital, Mr. O'Hern asked for a million dollars and got it. A wealthy listener stood up, stated, "Well, why didn't you tell me it was only a million; I'll give it," and the campaign was over.

Prior to coming to Loyola in the spring of 1956, Mr. O'Hern successfully raised funds for a girls dormitory at Otterbein College in Westerville, Ohio.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The GREYHOUND in its new form, in my opinion, is a great improvement, and I am sure will be well received by its readers.

Best wishes for your continued success in interpreting events of the Loyola campus.

Frank O'Hern
Development Office

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

It has been brought to our attention that the State Legislature is considering removing historic old Pimlico Race track. The proposed plan would eliminate Pimlico from the racing scene and transfer its 40 racing days to Laurel.

Although we realize that this would greatly benefit Laurel, we cannot help but think of the undue burden such a move would place on the local collegiate turf devotee. Consider that the present set-up allows the student to attend his morning classes before departing for the track, while the proposed plan would necessitate his missing classes for an entire day if he is to make the daily double.

Therefore in the interest of the student body of Loyola College, we hereby go on record as opposing the proposed plan.

Quarterly Due For Publication In Early March

The Spring issue of the EVERGREEN QUARTERLY, scheduled to appear some time in early March, will feature a cover, drawn by Jim Eagle, depicting a modern interpretation of the Crucifixion.

An article dealing with the rise, decline and fall of Adolph Hitler with speculation on the future of Germany is the product of the mind and pen of Manfred Seegall. New contributors to the poetry department of the QUARTERLY are Bob McGrain and Jerry Dyer. Mr. Vincent J. Colimore, a member of the faculty, has also submitted some verse.

In addition to articles and poetry, this issue will again feature another short story by William Zeigler.

The faculty moderator of the EVERGREEN QUARTERLY is Mr. Francis X. Christ of the English Department.

FOR MOROSE MAIDENS

By TED PANTALEO

Despite the sentimental garbage put out by the valentine merchants, this is the season when the eternal romances of the summer begin to appear slightly less than permanent. In the majority of cases the skirts are to blame. They become dissatisfied and look around for greener grazing grounds. "Fantastic!" you cry. "Candy ankles would never leave me for some other bum." Check. Just for kicks, however, take a crack at the following quiz. Think carefully before answering though. One "yes" answer means you're on your way to becoming a memory.

1. Does she keep referring to you in the past tense?
2. Does she no longer dance lightly about the room, tossing confetti whenever you suggest eating at the neighborhood ptomaine pit?
3. Is she constantly getting her hand caught in your money belt?
4. Are the innocent remarks made under the heavy influence of the Ocean City moon coming back to haunt you?

(Example: Did she find out that your T-bird was actually a vintage nineteen-no-hundred heap?)

Quit sobbing! If your frail fancies herself a music lover, you're in. The following discs are guaranteed to appease the most "heat-oppressed" of female brains.

For the Sophisticated: "Masterpieces by Ellington," (Columbia CL 825). The Duke and his group have always been noted for two outstanding features. He is not only one of the greats of the keyboard but also a composer and arranger of rare abilities. His orchestras on the other hand always contained men who were capable of the finest ensemble playing as well as inspired solos. The result is that theirs has consistently been one of the more popular big bands. This happy combination of talents has never been more evident than it is on this, their newest release. The LP includes four Ellington classics. Three of them, "Mood Indigo," "Solitude," and "Sophisticated Lady" are from his most creative period, the late twenties and early thirties. The "Tattooed Bride," although more recent (1950), is entirely in the Ellington tradition.

For the Serene: Decca's latest bid for fame is an album entitled simply, "Black Coffee," (DL 8358). It features the soothing and convincing vocal chords of Miss Peggy Lee. Peg once again proves her amazing versatility by skillfully rendering such diverse tunes as "I've Got You Under My Skin," "My Heart Belongs to Daddy," "You're My Thrill" and "I Didn't Know What Time It Was." The background is supplied by an unusually imaginative and tasteful quartet.

For the Sensitive: Earl Garner has long been acclaimed by many as the undisputed king of jazz pianists. Time after time he has walked away with top honors from the leading musical polls. He is an artist with whom genius and quality are the rule rather than the exception. "Concert By The Sea," (Columbia CL 883), is undoubtedly one of his greater performances to date. Playing before a responsive concert audience in an acoustically perfect auditorium, Earl gave his all to standards like "Autumn Leaves," "April in Paris," "Teach Me Tonight" and "I'll Remember April." The accompanists are Denzil Best on drums and Eddie Calhoun on bass. This recording is destined to be a hit because of its appeal to the lovers of popular and semi-classical music as well as those of jazz.

Well that's it men. In case your wench wasn't included, don't fret. In the next issue we'll offer suggestions for the wild, weighty and worthless.

Glee Club Plans Concert In May

The Loyola College Glee Club, silent for the past few weeks, has spent this time working on details for the Annual Spring Concert to be presented in the school gymnasium on Friday, May 3rd, at 8:30 P.M. The concert, directed by Mr. Felice Iula, will feature music by The Baltimore Symphony Orchestra and a guest appearance by the Glee Club of Georgetown Visitation Junior College.

$232,000 Subscribed For Building Program

The Office of the Loyola College Development Program has announced its progress to date and its future plans. The alumni, among whom the first phase of the Development Program is being conducted, has already subscribed $232,000. The subscriptions are being received in practically all categories.

Former Senator Herbert R. O'Conner, Class of 1917, the alumni chairman, also announced that a fine manifestation of Alumni loyalty lies in the fact that nearly 500 of the 2500 Alumni in the Baltimore Area are active in some capacity in the fund raising. He further said that 1100 Alumni in Baltimore have yet to be solicited. There are, in addition, 500 Alumni, scattered throughout the U.S., who will be contacted through a mail campaign.

Mr. Pierce J. Flanigan Jr., general chairman of the Development Program, pointed out that, following the Alumni phase, solicitations would be conducted among business firms of Baltimore, foundations and the Loyola family, which includes students, students' parents and the faculty.

The primary objectives of the Development Program are a Student Union Building, a fund to increase Faculty salaries, an Engineering Physics Building and a fund to purchase additional land.

One of the original objectives of the program, the establishment of a permanent Alumni Office, has already been realized. The Alumni Office is now in operation in Room 101 of the Library Building. In charge of the office is Mr. William F. LeFevre, the executive secretary of the Alumni Office.

Yearbook Seeks Support Of The Underclassmen

The financial outlook for the EVERGREEN ANNUAL is favorable with twenty-three night school graduates agreeing to subscribe at $10 a copy and one hundred per cent of the Senior Class subscribing.

Only one pressing problem, the underclass subscription of which only thirty per cent has been guaranteed, remains to haunt the Business Staff of the yearbook. In comparison eighty per cent of St. Mary's underclassmen have subscribed to their yearbook.

The publishers, S. K. Smith and Company, report that the preliminary draft will be sent from New York within two weeks.

History Academy Readies Schedule

At its first meeting this semester, Loyola's John Gilmary Shea History Academy mapped out an activities schedule for the next three months. After a short discussion, it was decided by the members that the semester lectures would deal with "The History of the Civil War" and "The History of Russia."

Included in the future plans of the Academy are a two day field trip to Williamsburg, Virginia, in April and a lecture to be given by Dr. William Hoyt entitled, "Historical Maryland Homes." Dr. Hoyt's talk will be supplemented by colored slides. Invitations to the lecture were mailed to Mt. St. Agnes, Notre Dame and Goucher College.

Featured at the February 14 meeting were talks by Charles Fitzsimmons and Jerry Birch. Fitzsimmons spoke on "The Early Church in Ireland" and Birch read a paper on the subject of "Medieval Towns."

A Birthday For George

By CHARLIE COX

Yes, one of those days has past again! A day like all those holidays, filled with the names of heroes whom we try to remember, but never quite seem to recall in their full glory. One of these men is George Washington, called by authors of history books, after-dinner speakers, and other cliche artists "the father of our country."

All sorts of jolly things were done in celebration of George's birthday, which really does not occur on February twenty-second. Loyola, however, recessed for the day, and many of her students made a pilgrimage to the city which bears his name. They went to visit the famous landmarks such as the Capitol building, the National Gallery of Art, the Bayou Club, the Blue Mirror and many other points of interest.

The book store had its annual George Washington Birthday Give-away sale. Mac offered at half-price two gross of 1938 calendars. Why 1938? Because it was a good year for calendars . . .

Bright Preps Grapplers For Tourney At Towson

Towson State Teachers is the scene of the Mason-Dixon wrestling tournament this week-end, and Loyola coach Bright is looking towards wrestlers such as Mike Cook, Mike Dorn, and Charlie Carey to pick up points in their respective weight divisions.

At this point, it seems as if Mike Cook, heavyweight wrestler, is a good bet to take the Mason-Dixon crown for the unlimited weight division, as he maintained an unstained loss column throughout the entire season. Cook posted victories over foes from Baltimore University and Gallaudet, two of the best teams in the league. Mike Dorn, if he remains in his proper weight class, and Charlie Carey should also make a good showing on the basis of their season's record.

The Evergreen matmen found Fairleigh - Dickenson somewhat rougher than supposed and bowed, 21-50. For the first time Loyola gained points by forfeits instead of losing them, since Fairleigh-Dickinson College was unable to place wrestlers in the 147-lb. class. Even with this advantage, the Greyhounds still couldn't overcome an early 10-5 lead.

Here's Score On Tourney Tickets

Anyone interested in purchasing tickets at the special $.85 student rate must purchase their tickets ahead of time in the Athletic office at the gym.

The three-day tourney begins Tuesday night with a four-game program. The opener is slated for 5:15. There will be a doubleheader Wednesday night beginning at 7:30, while Thursday's final is slated for 8:45.

The tournament is run completely by the Mason-Dixon Conference and Loyola, although the host school, receives no compensation.

Dorn To Lead Swimmers Into Tourney Competition

By BOB FLEISHMAN

Paced by Tony Dorn and George Krapp, Loyola's swimming team is prepping for the annual Mason-Dixon Conference Tournament at American University, March 4 and 5. The tankmen have a good chance to cop the league crown which was won last year by Catholic University.

The Cardinals must again be considered the team to beat, according to Greyhound Coach Bill Klarner. "They have won the championship the last two years, but I think we have a good chance next week because we have better balance than the others." Besides Loyola and C.U., Randolph-Macon, Roanoke, Lynchburg, and host American U. are also entered.

Several records are expected to be set in the tourney. The winner of the 400-yd. medley relay will hold the record for that event as this is the first year it will be contested; Loyola is a favorite in this. The 200-yd. butterfly is also new.

Two tournament record-holders will compete this year. They are Pete Bogan, of Catholic U., who owns the now-defunct 200-yd. individual medley mark; and Charles Bailey, of A.U., holder of the 220 and 440-yd. freestyle records.

Loyola has a share of conference records. Jake Fisher, in the 50-yd. freestyle, 1949; Jerry Rooney, 100-yd. freestyle, 1950; Klarner, 200-yd breaststroke, 1950; and Lou McComas, 150-yd. individual medley, 1954, and 200-yd. backstroke, 1952. The Hound 400-yd. freestyle relay team of 1951 holds the standard in that event.

Hounds Prep For M-D Tourney

By Bill Byrnes

Buoyed by the recent scoring splurge of clever Jerry Komin, the Hound basketballers head into Tuesday's Mason-Dixon Conference Tournament with a determined revenge motive.

An air of optimism is also present as Coach Reitz' charges attempt to overcome the loss of Gene Grimes and the minor injury to the knee of George Leyh.

With his 300th win now thoroughly digested, Lefty seemed especially pleased with the work of his guards.

"Komin has been scoring well lately and I hope that is an indication that he has found his shooting eye, something which we have been waiting for all season."

Defensive ace Earl Hamper "is filling in very well for Grimes in the back court, and if we could get a few more baskets out of him, he would be an adequate replacement."

Jack Benzing who has made his clutch points a specialty is "improving in his ballhandling work and we are depending on his shooting in the tournament."

Reitz also gave much credit to his up-front men Paul Dodd, Harp Fitzgerald and Denny McGuire and particularly Jim Staiti. "Jim is giving us a very steady performance and is showing the potential which he has had since his sophomore year."

Twice frustrated by arch-rival Mount St. Mary's during the season, Loyola finds itself in a position to use the same trick the Mounties pulled in last year's tournament, that is winning the playoffs after losing the regular season chase.

Following the system which has always been used, the top eight teams in the conference compete in the playoffs. Four games will be played the first night with the winners returning the following night. On Thursday night, the two remaining teams will battle for the championship.

Already assured of Tournament berths are the league leading Mounts, Roanoke, Loyola and Catholic U.

No student tickets will be sold the nights of the Mason-Dixon Conference basketball tourment.

'B' Basketeers Improved; End Campaign Saturday

Hoping to wind up their season on a winning note, the Hound "B" squad will clash with Boy's Latin in the pre-lim to the St. Francis game this Saturday. "The team has sharpened up after the first couple of games, and has really looked like a ball club in its last few contests," asserts coach Lefty Reitz.

High man on the totem pole in the points-per-game department is tall Paul Corbett. Corbett perhaps the most improved ballplayer on the squad, has hit for a 149 point total in twelve games to register a 12.4 average.

Close on Corbett's heels, however, are two other aggressive ballhawks, 6' 3" Jim Fowler and rugged Ferd Ruppel. Fowler's height combined with a well-developed hook shot, makes him extremely hard to guard. Ruppel possesses a variety of shots. He can drive in for a lay-up or draw out the defense with his set shot, depending upon the occasion. Both are hovering around the 11.5 markers-per-contest average.

Hampered during the mid-part of the season by a sprained ankle, Bucky Foote is probably the most underrated player on the squad. Hustle and desire have made him a key playmaker in the "B" squad's court plans.

Don Deinlein and Dick Sneeringer are two more experienced cogs in coach Reitz's machine. Deinlein is a steady scorer, while Sneeringer is consistant under the boards.

Freshmen Pete Twardowicz and Dan Dobrzykowski have proved their mettle as newcomers to the squad. Although neither had previous court experience, both have close to 9 point averages.

INTRAMURAL ITEMS

By ED METZBOWER

Who says the Olympians are going to win the intramural basketball race? Whadabout the Rinky Dinks with Jim Henneman, Jim Vaeth, Joe Gahan, and now Gene Grimes, too?

General consensus of opinion is that some of the intramural teams could easily beat a few of the local high school teams.

Hints to the intramural commissioners: Let's try to get the games started within 10 minutes after the hour scheduled, use the referees posted and get the top refs to work the most important games.

Upset. The Blue Jays outscored the Ding Dongs in a three-minute overtime to win by three points, although Mike Sneeringer personally accounted for thirty D-D points.

In one of the best-played games of the first round, the Ramblers downed the Bohs by two baskets.

It's a puzzlement:

When you're old enough to go to college, you're old enough to go out with girls. When you're old enough to go out with girls, who needs college? Oh well, there's always Coke.
